

The sound of a slow, steady drum beat is often heard from somewhere in the village, mourning the death of a neighbor.

A bicycle, sometimes with a chair attached, is often used to transport patients

Medical tools are usually sterilized over a fire.

Rehydration salts are prepared and stored in bottles for patients.

PCP Medical Ambassadors use training modules like this one to teach nurses
to train others.

The journey to a clinic is often a long and arduous walk.

Please sign the guestbook!

Tell us what you think of the Congo Clinic Experience, and if you're interested in setting it up at your church.

